

Amazing mandalas!

Round and round and round!

There are any different types of Mandalas found in a wide range of Eastern Cultures and religions. Buddhism and Hinduism use these designs as a connection to nature and a source of meditation and focus. In western culture they are connected to bohemian lifestyle and represent a connection to beauty and decoration.

Images from Cathedral windows across England, capture the religious meditation found within each design.